Winter 22-23 Newsletter

Shalom Family and Friends,

It's the cold, rainy season here and recently we were able to give out nylon backpacks to the homeless that included new t-shirts, socks, rain ponchos, and other needed items. When we fill these backpacks, our first thoughts are: "What would we need if we were out on the street today?" And, "How can we show love to these people who are in such difficulties?"

We have the privilege of serving three outreaches in Tel Aviv for street people. Thank you so much for enabling us to help these who are the neediest among the needy.

This season we've also had the joy of distributing new shoes to children and adults in poverty. We've been able to distribute to eleven locations and still have three large cartons of shoes to distribute this week. We're so grateful to have helpful items available for folks going through difficult times.

This newsletter we wanted to introduce you to David. He and his wife Edna have both been disabled and below the poverty level for a number of years.

One of his health challenges requires him to wear absorbent underwear at night. He's always thrilled to receive a new supply. For David and Edna, these necessary items are unaffordable. Thank you for helping us to help David and Edna.

Our food distributions to 20 locations across Israel continue and we thank you sincerely for your prayers and your help.

With love and appreciation,

Chaim and Cheryl
